

FRIENDS SUPPORTING HER.

"AUNT BETSY" CRUTCHFIELD LOSES HER HOMESTEAD.

Probate Judge Guinotte is forced to decide that her stepson's heirs are under no legal obligation to care for her.

It went against the grain for Judge Guinotte, of the probate court, to decide yesterday that "Aunt Betsy" Crutchfield, of Westport, had no legal claim on the estate of her stepson, Taitan H. Crutchfield, but there was no law for a decision in favor of "Aunt Betsy" and the court had to hold that Taitan Crutchfield's children were under no legal obligation to support "Aunt Betsy." It was a moral obligation, if any, and "Aunt Betsy" cannot recover anything from the estate of the stepson whom she raised.

But "Aunt Betsy" will not suffer. She has too many friends for that. Her estate will not be held liable for her maintenance.

Everybody in Jackson county knows "Aunt Betsy" Crutchfield and everybody in Jackson county knew "Uncle Jack," her husband. For forty-three years they lived in the same little home in Westport. Not a wedding or christening in all that neighborhood was celebrated without them. In the prime of their manhood and womanhood they went to Westport and filled out the fifty-eight years of their wedded life in that place. They were Kansas City in that place. "Aunt Betsy" is alone. Her stepson died a few months ago and "Uncle Jack" was laid to rest soon after. Their modest little property, which was bought before the war by "Aunt Betsy" stepdaughter, passed through various hands. At the stepdaughter's death it passed to "Uncle Jack" and Taitan H. Crutchfield. A part of it was sold and the rest was bequeathed to "Aunt Betsy" and her heirs. "Aunt Betsy" died in 1914. "Uncle Jack" died in 1915. "Aunt Betsy" was left alone. She had no children and no heirs. She was left alone. She was left alone. She was left alone.

When the stepson was his deathbed, it is said, he called his children and heirs about him and charged them to care for his father and stepmother. This was not a legally binding claim upon the estate and when, as a mortgage list must be kept.

In reply to another question the counselor gave it as his opinion that it would be entirely proper for the estate to keep a book to separately assess corporations.

SAY HE SOLD A DIPLOMA.

Now the National School of Osteopathy is in Collision With the Attorney General's Department.

Attorney General Crow yesterday filed in the circuit court of appeals an application for a writ of quo warranto against the National School of Osteopathy for failure to file a return to a writ of quo warranto issued by Judge Ellison, returnable on the first Monday in October. The petition declares that E. D. Barber, Helen M. Barber, his wife, and W. A. McCormack, the officers and directors of the institution, which is located in the Keith & Perry building, have abused the powers of their charter by selling a diploma to G. H. B. Stewart for $100.

Accompanying the petition is a long affidavit by Dr. William Smith, of the Kirksville School of Osteopathy, detailing the manner in which he secured the diploma under the name of G. H. B. Stewart. The diploma is also attached. "Stewart" alleges that he told Barber he was a physician and wanted a diploma as an osteopathic doctor and made a frank offer to buy a diploma. Barber entered into the arrangement and sold the diploma for $100. Barber was very anxious that the authorities of the Kirksville School of Osteopathy should not learn of the transaction. Little dreaming that "Stewart" or Dr. Smith, was a representative of that institution.

JUSTICE COCKED AND PRIMED.

So Morris Downing, Who Claims to Be a Relative of the Tragedian, Found to His Sorrow.

Morris Downing, who claims to be a relative of the tragedian, was arrested yesterday and arraigned before Justice Krueger on a charge of stealing a pair of rubber boots. Downing's case was delayed some time by the poolroom case, which was argued by Judge Krueger yesterday. The report of the surveyor as to the letting of contracts for three bridges on the Rieky road was rejected, and the surveyor ordered to re-survey for bids.

Solomon licenses were granted to P. J. Kieffer at 301 Genesee street and Pat Kennedy at 123 S. Main street.

Dickenson Goes to Jail.

R. M. Dickenson, at one time superintendent of the Fidelity Mutual Insurance Company in Philadelphia, who was arrested Sunday morning for passing a forged check on John A. Zellers, a stock broker at 161 Union avenue, was arraigned before Judge Guinotte yesterday. He was held in lieu of $100.

Spitting Fine Still Operative.

P. J. Morley, a carpenter at 705 Wyandotte street, appeared in police court yesterday to prosecute John Nelson, the owner of a dog which had bitten him while waiting for the case to be called. Mr. Morley said the dog was named "Harvey" and was a St. Bernard. The dog was found in the street and was taken to the police station. The dog was found in the street and was taken to the police station.

There are a lot of corporations along the river front which are not taxed, and Mr. Bower wanted to know how to reach this class of corporations. The surveyor was to make a survey to be made, and then the assessor could proceed to get the corporations to pay taxes.

Mr. Bower wanted to know whether owners of all corporations stock could be taxed, while bank stock could be assessed to the owners thereof. Corporations organized under the laws of Missouri, the taxation of which is not otherwise provided for by law, pay taxes upon their property as corporations, and the shares of stock are not assessable as personal property. Shares of stock in foreign corporations, if such stock is owned in this state, are assessable to the owner at the place of his domicile.

Shares of stock of corporations situated within Jackson county and assessed here before of Mr. Bower cannot be assessed under the laws of Missouri, the taxation of which is not otherwise provided for by law, pay taxes upon their property as corporations, and the shares of stock are not assessable as personal property.

TOUGHS ARE HELD.

The Trio Who Assaulted a Harmless Old Man Bound Over in $1,000 Each.

George Henderson, Charles Neff and Oscar Rollins, who were arrested by the police Sunday for an assault upon Alonzo Carter, an old colored man who lives on "Tincan alley," a rendezvous for thugs in the North end, were arraigned before Justice Ellison yesterday and their bond fixed at $1,000 each. They did not furnish sureties and were sent to jail. Their cases will be heard August 31. Carter, who was badly cut about the face and hands by his assailants, is at the city hospital. He is a decrepit and hunched man who has lived for many years in the toughest district in the city. Some time ago his wife was convicted of a crime and sentenced to a term in jail.

Justice Court Blunder.

When the case against Ella Stater was called in Justice Louis Jones court at Independence yesterday, the defendant being charged with theft, it was found that Justice Whitlow, from whose court the case was sent on a change of venue, had made a blunder in the indictment. It had been filed against Miss Stater, although a search warrant had been issued and stolen articles found in her room. Justice Whitlow was presumably under the impression that Miss Stater could be tried on a document of this character. The whole proceeding was farcical and Miss Stater walked out of court without trial, Justice Jones claiming that the case could not be tried on a change of venue.

Suits Filed in Circuit Court.

G. C. Skillen brought suit in the circuit court at Independence yesterday against M. D. Wood, the petition setting out that William Skillen, deceased, left $1,000 to his children, and that Wood was appointed trustee. The complainant alleges that he has violated his trust by keeping the money.

George M. Ernst filed suit against Kansas City for a divorce against Kansas City. The petition setting out that he was married in 1911, since which time the usual reasons of domestic discord, such as dishes, tin pans and other kitchen utensils, seem to have marred their happiness.

Richard B. Burgess yesterday filed a suit for divorce against Clay Burgess, whom she charges with gross abuse and unkindness.

Two Divorce Suits Filed.

Andrew Goodyear yesterday brought suit for divorce against Virginia Goodyear. The petition setting out that they were married in 1911, since which time the usual reasons of domestic discord, such as dishes, tin pans and other kitchen utensils, seem to have marred their happiness.

Richard B. Burgess yesterday filed a suit for divorce against Clay Burgess, whom she charges with gross abuse and unkindness.

Got Out an Injunction.

Judge Foster yesterday issued a restraining order prohibiting the Ross Exchange Company of 613 Main street from interfering with C. D. Martin, who traded $1,800 worth of real estate for the stock of goods at 613 Main street. Martin claims that the company marked up the invoice price on the goods and he found himself in debt instead of trading even.

D. S. Mayer Fails Again.

The D. S. Mayer Wine and Liquor Company, of 114 East Twelfth street, filed two chattel mortgages yesterday, one for $300 in favor of B. E. Keefe and another for $700 in favor of B. Mayer, of this city. The stock is in possession of these creditors.

Credit Is At.

A Letter From Cleveland, O., Brokers Shows How Kansas City Is Regarded Abroad.

Never in its history has Kansas City's credit as good as now. For several years past the well known banking and brokerage firm of N. W. Harris & Co., of New York, has been buying and selling Kansas City and Jackson county bonds. They handled the entire issue of $1,000,000 water works bonds. In a letter to Comptroller Land, in answer to one written by him asking information as to certain bonds that he desired to purchase to put into the city's sinking fund, Harris & Co. say:

"In view of the splendid financial condition of the city of Kansas City, and the security of bonds of that class, we shall not be surprised to see the bonds of Kansas City materialize in the near future. The great crop year section is harvesting this year is going to strengthen securities as well as all commercial credits, and particularly where municipalities have gone through the trying period of the last five years so creditably as has your city."

One of the most elegant and appropriate publications yet to be issued from Kansas City will be the forthcoming "Industrial Carnival Edition of the Board of Trade." It will be issued a week in advance of the Carnival for gratuitous distribution to responsible firms and individuals within a radius of 20 miles, as an invitation to attend the fall festivities. The cover, which will appear in six colors, is 15x20 inches. It was designed by E. A. Fillard, the well known artist, and embraces caricatures of several of our leading business men in mirthful Carnival attire. The entire work is to be printed on fine paper, and will contain illustrative treatises on the Board of Trade and all the principal industries of Kansas City.

It will doubtless create a healthy interest among a desirable class of people that would not otherwise attend.

Will Run a Race Track Also.

The lower house committee on streets, alleys and grades will meet at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to consider a bill granting a franchise to the East Side Electric Railway Company. This is the road that is to be built by the Heim brothers. They have announced that in connection with the road they intend to establish a race track in the East bottoms.
